Winter 2017
A grAdvantage sponsored workshop series

Questioning Career:
Designing the Life You Want
For Grad Students and Postdoctoral Scholars

Feb. 14-March 14 (5 sessions weekly)
2:00-3:30pm
Student Center: Dolores Huerta room

Facilitators: Christina Lambert, PhD
Giulia Hoffmann, PhD
Joel Tolson, MA
Ginger Hazen, PhD
William Youngblood, LMFT
Fenqin Lian, PhD
Sochanvimean Vannavuth, PhD

How can I create a life I want?

This unique, five-session workshop series helps graduate students and postdoctoral scholars find answers to this and other similar questions as we work through the often difficult processes of choosing a career path and creating a meaningful professional life.

Over 600 past participants have felt empowered in:

➤ Pursuing career choices that correspond with their life priorities and personal values,
➤ Identifying their transferable skills developed through their academic experiences,
➤ Taking control of their career decision making process.

REGISTER TODAY at https://qcgwinter2017.eventbrite.com
Space is limited
Registration fee: $30. This fee covers a portion of the assessments provided, with the rest subsidized by grAdvantage with support from the Chancellor’s Office.

Students who register must commit to attending all five sessions.

Questions? Please contact Joel Tolson at jdtolson@ucsd.edu or 858-822-7950

grAdvantage
FSAP
University of California, San Diego Career Services Center
CAPS
Counseling and Psychological Services
UC San Diego Postdoctoral and Visiting Scholar Affairs